From the desk of the Garrison Commander

Commander discusses plans for two-phase introductory recycling program for Presidio

I would like to take a moment and talk to you all about recycling. We are a 'community within communities' and all around us cities in California are being required to recycle 50 percent of their waste by the year 2000 with the goal of achieving 100 percent.

We want to do our part, and we will be participating. In fact, it makes good financial sense to recycle; it's much cheaper and can save us much needed funds to apply toward other improvements to benefit all of us.

So far we have completed phase 1 of a two-phase introductory program using two of our large office and school buildings on the Presidio, building 610 and 614, with great success.

The second phase will include the Combs Dining Facility; building 627, U.S. Air Force barracks; buildings 622 and 630, A, B, and C Companies of the 229th Military Intelligence Battalion; and the printing plant. Phase 2 will begin approximately May 10 and continue for a month. During this time the city of Monterey with the Department of Public Works will make necessary adjustments to support the effort, such as updating the location of refuse and recycling containers. There will also be some education forums on how to recycle.

Col. Peter Dausen, U.S. Army, Garrison Commander

We want to introduce a post-wide recycling campaign for the Presidio on the Fourth of July. The Annex will follow shortly after, once we work out the details with the city of Seaside.

Recycling makes good sense environmentally and allows us to participate in the preservation of our planet for our children. It makes good sense financially as well, allowing us to use our critical funds for our highest priorities and best use. I believe this will be a very worthwhile and profitable venture for all of us. Thank you in advance for all of your support.

Thanks for listening.

Defense Secretary sends message for Armed Forces Day

Each year on the third Saturday of May, America takes time out to honor you – the men and women of America's armed forces.

Armed Forces Day serves a very important purpose by reminding all Americans of your willingness to serve and sacrifice to protect our nation's freedom. Because of you, America remains strong and secure.

This past year, perhaps more than any in recent memory, your skills and commitment have been tested. You have demonstrated professionalism during Operation Desert Fox. You have patrolled the dangerous skies over Iraq. You have saved lives providing relief and rescue in the wake of Hurricane Mitch. And in the Balkans, you have stood against oppression and for our interests and ideals. Time and time again, you have met every test and overcome every challenge with skill, professionalism and dedication.

Celebrations and events will take place in communities throughout the United States as citizens gather to express their profound gratitude to you, your families and the communities that support you. Each and every day, the work you do helps spread the blessings of freedom and democracy to people around the world.

Whether you serve in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force or Coast Guard, Armed Forces Day is your day. It is a day when you receive the gratitude and acknowledgement you so richly deserve. I salute your achievements and your selfless service. By your dedication and deeds, you have earned the honor, respect and gratitude of your fellow Americans.

Military family sends thanks to members of Presidio, POM Annex for their support after son's accident, death

Editor's Note: Although "thank you" letters are not routinely published in the Community News, the extreme circumstances of the event that prompted the following letter warrant an exception to policy.

To the people of the Presidio of Monterey and POM Annex communities, Andrea, Christopher and I would like to thank everyone who extended their help to us in so many ways, following our son's death on April 6th.

Ethan was 11 months old when he died from a severe head injury after a tree limb fell on his head while we were sightseeing in a redwood forest near Santa Cruz. During the five days we were with him in the hospital and the days since then, we have been overwhelmed with cards, letters, offers for help, friendship, donations and most importantly your thoughts and prayers.

We would like to thank some units and individuals in particular: Father Michael Drury;

Chaplain David Reese;

Maj. Rich Gibbons and family;

Dave and Robyn Keele and family;

D Company, 229th Military Intelligence Battalion leadership and soldiers;

the D Company family support network – especially Rachel Brodine;

the soldiers of A, B, and C Companies, 229th MI Battalion, students and teachers of European School II – especially my teachers and classmates in class RU399;

Capt. Don and Annette Gentles;

the folks at the office of the Staff Judge Advocate, the Army Emergency Relief office and the Casualty Assistance office;

all of our neighbors;

the Foreign Area Officers office;

the congregations of all denominations at both chapels who offered so many prayers and everyone who prayed for us or helped us in any way.

You all have demonstrated that when something tragic happens to a member of this military community, we all are there for them. In situations like this, there are no words to say that can make things right, but you have all, in your own ways, eased our suffering. We are truly grateful to all of you.

Sincerely,
Scott, Andrea and Christopher Dullea

President authorizes call-up of more than 33,000 Reserve component members

By Jim Garamone

American Forces Press Service

WASHINGTON — Up to 33,102 Reserve component members can be called to active duty for Operation Allied Force under a presidential selected Reserve call-up signed April 27 by President Clinton.

The call-up order authorizes the mobilization of Reservists for up to 270 days. Initial focus is on 2,000 members and 47 aircraft in eight Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve air refueling units. However, the order affects all services and sets the Air Force activation ceiling at 25,000 Reservists, the Army at 6,100, the Navy at 892, the Marines at 1,100 and the Coast Guard, 10.

Charles Cragin, acting assistant secretary of defense for Reserve affairs, said the units in the first increment are all refuelers. The eight units are:

Air Guard's 161st Air Refueling Wing of Phoenix, Ariz.;
171st ARW of Pittsburgh;
117th ARW of Birmingham, Ala.;
128th ARW of Milwaukee, Wis.; and
Air Force Reserve's 927th ARW of Detroit,
940th ARW of Marysville, Calif.,
434th ARW of Kokomo, Ind., and 931st Air Refueling Group of Wichita, Kan.

The reservists will help increase the tempo of the air campaign over Yugoslavia, Pentagon spokesman Ken Bacon said April 27. They will be based in Budapest, Hungary.

The services are also authorized to invoke stop/loss programs that would suspend service members' normal separation dates from active duty. The Air Force will invoke the stop/loss program; personnel most affected are pilots, air crews, aircraft maintenance personnel and those in other critical specialties.

Air Force Maj. Gen. Susan Pamerleau, director of personnel forces management on the Air Staff, said the service invoked stop/loss as a matter of fairness because of the large number of reservists being called up. She said, however, stop/loss will specifically target those in critical specialties needed for the operation.

Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard officials said their services will not invoke stop/loss.

Cragin said the call-up demonstrates the critical role the Reserve components play today. "We really can't do anything from a military operations point of view without the Reserves," he said. "The Guard and Reserve are integral parts of America's total force now and this is just the latest example."

Similar Reserve call-up orders have been used for operations in Bosnia and Southwest Asia. Reserve component airmen also have been part of Operation Allied Force since the beginning, but they were volunteers, Cragin said.

"About 1,500 reservists at any one time support the operations over Yugoslavia," he said. However, the scale of operations has increased, and DoD could not sustain operations without calling the Reserves, he noted.

Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve assets include aerial refueling and strategic airlift units, electronic warfare units and some strike units. Most units called will support air operations against Yugoslavia, though some will support the Kosovar refugee relief effort.

At this time, Army officials said they plan on calling not units, but individuals in such job specialties as civil affairs, psychological operations, water purification and logistics. These Army Reserve component members will concentrate on helping the humanitarian mission.

Details of the other services' plans were not immediately available.

Once called up, reservists qualify for all benefits afforded active duty counterparts, including the tax exemption for service in the Allied Force area of operations.

Some of the reservists will back-fill active duty personnel going to Allied Force, Cragin said. "The United States has worldwide commitments," he said. "These must continue. We are handling all contingencies as they arise. Obviously, this requires an effort by all members of the total force."

Improperly maintained clothes dryers could result in fire hazard

Many people don't realize the hazards of not properly maintaining their clothes dryers. Improper or poor maintenance of dryer equipment can lead to fires. The following are a few safety tips that anyone who has a dryer — gas or electric — should be aware of:

- ☐ Clean the lint trap after every use.
- ☐ Clean the lint pipe at least once a year.
- ☐ Never over-pack a dryer. Heat build up can cause the clothes to catch fire.

☐ Have your dryer serviced if you suspect any motor or belt problems. Damaged belts can lead to the motor overheating and possibly catch fire.

Owners of gas-powered dryers should take additional precautions to assure that all gas pipe fittings are secure and undamaged. If you suspect a gas leak, call the gas company immediately.

Award for child abuse prevention

Investigator Dedra Thomas of the Presidio of Monterey Police and the Multi-Disciplinary Interview Team were selected to receive the State Department of Social Services Award at the annual Child Abuse Prevention Council Proclamation and Awards Breakfast in April.

The State Department of Social Services awards this recognition to individuals or organizations for their contribution on behalf of children who are at risk or victims of child abuse or neglect.

The purpose of the Multi-Disciplinary Interview Team was to establish protocol for the Monterey County Child Abuse Response Team, created to establish and promote a coordinated county-wide multi-disciplinary approach to child sexual assault and abuse investigation.

Thomas and the team also received a Senate Certificate of Recognition from Senator Bruce McPherson for earning the State Department award.

Contracting Directorate warns customers against making unauthorized commitments

A word of caution to Directorate of Contracting customers: Be careful when researching requirements not to inadvertently make an "unauthorized commitment."

Don't put yourself at risk for liability or even disciplinary action.

An unauthorized commitment is a non-binding agreement made by an individual with no authority to enter into such an agreement on behalf of the government. Only a duly appointed contracting officer can obligate the government.

Improper procurements, or unauthorized commitments, take several forms. These could include ordering or picking up supplies from vendors without proper prior approval; delivering government property to a contractor for maintenance or repairs without a pre-existing contract; and accepting delivery of or procuring items not on a purchase order or authorized IMPAC card purchase.

Ratification of unauthorized commitments requires extensive research and documentation to justify, as well as command-level and legal reviews.

For more information, call 242-6563 or 242-6581. (Courtesy of Directorate of Contracting)

MPC summer registration began April 26. Weekend Geology and Chemistry courses meet the laboratory science requirement for the Foreign Language Associates Degree.

Since these courses are open to the entire community, students are urged to enroll as soon as possible.

Army Correspondence Courses

More than 220,000 active duty and Reserve soldiers and officers are enrolled in the Army Correspondence Course Program. ACCP offers 356 correspondence courses and about 2,500 subcourses relating to subjects from mathematics to psychological operations.

Specialists and sergeants earn one promotion point for every five credit hours of course work they complete. Reserve component soldiers can use ACCP to help obtain MOS qualification. Reservists and National Guard soldiers accrue one retirement point for every three credit hours of course work they complete.

Students can enroll in as many as 25 subcourses at a time in any combination; however, courses must be MOS related.

Some of the most popular courses include: Land Navigation Subcourses because they are part of numerous programs of instruction; Combat Lifesaver Course, which has the highest number of enrollees; Primary Leadership Development Course, eligible to all specialists and above regardless of MOS; Basic Skills Preparatory Course, eligible to all soldiers.

Stop by the Education Center to enroll on the Internet site at 155.217.35.238/accp/aipd.htm.

MPC Foreign Language Work Experience Class

One course offered by Monterey Peninsula College for language students allows them to strengthen their language skills and earn college credit. The four-semester hour Cooperative Work Experience class begins June 14 and ends Aug. 6.

The primary requirement for the enrollees would be to complete self-designed learning objectives related to their Foreign Language instruction.

Explanation of classified ad policy

The following information is provided to explain and clarify policy for individuals who would like to publish classified ads in POM-Mart.

Military members, retirees and Department of Defense civilian employees with valid identification cards are authorized to place classified ads in the Community News.

To place an ad in the Community News, complete the form on the back page of the Community News and deliver it to the Public Affairs Office, Building 614, Room 142, Presidio of Monterey, 93944. Ads may also be sent via e-mail to the editor at wright@pom-emh1.army.mil. Individuals should be sure to include all information requested on the form, including the category of the ad.

Daytime work telephone numbers are for use by Community News staff only; they will not be listed in ads. Individuals may place up to three ads in different categories per issue. Each ad should not exceed 35 words; itemized property for sale should be valued at least $10.

The Community News staff will make every effort to publish ads accurately, but we reserve the right to edit ads to meet readability, format and space requirements. Report typographical errors to the editor, and they will be corrected as early as possible.

Acceptable classified ads include items in the categories of Autos; Motorcycles; Trucks, Vans, Sport, RVs; Wanted; Sports Equipment; Entertainment, Music Items; Computers and Accessories; Lost and Found; Miscellaneous; Pets or Household Items. Items must be for one-time sale or for free – not for a profit-sharing venture of multiple items. The Community News does not take responsibility for items advertised.

Classified ads for businesses, rentals, free information, help for hire or tutoring, or illegal items are not authorized. Each ad will be published in three consecutive issues unless it is renewed or cancelled.

The date the ad was first published is printed in parentheses following each ad. For example, ads dated (05-07) will continue to run through the June 4 issue. Classified ads may be renewed or cancelled by phone; however, new ads, additions or major changes to ads must be done in writing before the Wednesday deadline for the next issue. Deadlines are generally a week and a half prior to the next publication. When calling in reference to an ad, be sure to identify the category, first few words of the ad, phone number as printed and the date following the ad.

Deadline for the May 21 issue is Wednesday; deadline for the June 4 issue is May 26.

Please refer questions concerning this policy to the editor of the Community News at the Public Affairs Office, at 242-5104 or 242-6426.
